COMMISSIONS PAID TO PRINTING BUREAU MEN.

The Baie des Chaleurs Case Grows Worse—A Member Impeached and Another in Danger—Sir Hector Flatly Contradicted by Mr. Starrs.

Special to the TIMES.]

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—Some astounding developments were brought forth at the Public Accounts committee yesterday in connection with the investigation of the printing bureau. It was admitted on the part of Bronskill, manager of the stationery department, that he got $200 from Barber & Ellis last year, and $200 this year. Barber & Ellis are contractors with the Government. Johnson, a typefounder of Toronto, refused to say whether or not he paid any commission to Senecal, the manager of the printing bureau. He got fifteen minutes to see his counsel and give a reply, and was informed that if he persisted his refusal would be reported to the House. Before Johnson returned Senecal was called, and on being examined he confessed to getting sums of money from Johnson, in the neighborhood of $1000. He also got money from R. L. Patterson of Miller & Richards, and he would not swear but it might have amounted to $4,000 altogether. Both of the officers will certainly be dismissed.

THE MERCIER CHARGES.

The Railway Committee of the Senate met yesterday, and proceedings in the Baie des Chaleurs railway case were resumed. Barwick, counsel for the prosecution, called attention to a series of dates tracing the issuing of the letter of credit for $100,000 by the Quebec Government, the discounting of the letter, the signing of the checks by Armstrong, and the whole transactions in the bank up to the lifting of the checks by Pacaud out of the bank. After the case came on before the committee, Webb, the manager of the Union Bank, said that of three $20,000 cheques, making $60,000 deposited in the bank by Pacaud, he withdrew $25,000 from his deposit ledger account and put it to his credit in the savings branch of the bank on the 10th of August, the day he left for Europe. Several notes were produced by Mr. Webb. Mr. Dumoulin, manager of the Banque du Peuple, and M. Lafrance, of the Banque Nationale, ranging from $3000 to $8000, made by Pacaud and endorsed by Hon. Mr. Mercier, Hon. C. Langelier, Hon. F. Langelier, Senator Pelletier and Tarte. It appeared from the evidence of these witnesses that out of the proceeds of this letter of credit these notes were paid. The climax was reached when the evidence of Lafrance showed that out of the proceeds of one $20,000 cheque $7000 or $5500 was sent on the order of Mr. Pacaud to Mercier in Paris, France. This was on the 15th of May, 1891. Mr. Barwick, counsel for the prosecution, said that he would be able to close the case in two more sittings if he could examine C. Langelier, the commissioner. Mr. F. Langelier, who represents the Quebec Government, said that his brother, Charles Langelier, would attend at any time he was sent for.

M'GREEVY'S SEAT.

The Speaker announced in the House yesterday that he had issued a warrant for the arrest of Thomas McGreevy, but in the meantime the latter had resigned his seat. A discussion took place on this point, the Opposition arguing that he could not resign, and Sir John Thompson holding that he could. The matter was dropped without any decision being reached.

MORE IMPEACHMENTS.

In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Cameron (Huron) charged Mr. Cochrane with having used his position as a member to obtain public offices for his constituents for money considerations ranging from $200 to $600. The charges were temporarily laid on the table. Cochrane was in the House but did not deny the charges. Another impeachment will be made against a Nova Scotian member, while a series of political charges will be laid against Minister Caron in the House.

RECIPROCITY RUMOR.

A correspondent of the Ottawa Free Press telegraphs from Washington, that for some time Sir Julian Pauncefote has been anxiously endeavoring to arrange the basis of a negotiation with Blaine, with respect to reciprocity trade between Canada and the United States, but with indifferent success. Premier Abbott sent a secret commissioner a few weeks ago to make an effort to establish an entente cordiale. This agent, when at Washington, submitted Sir Julian Pauncefote's memorandum to the effect that the present Dominion government was willing to have reciprocity trade with such articles as are now imported into Canada in large quantities from England. Sir Julian now feels in a position to offer the United States reciprocity in coal, grain, meats, cattle and live stock, leather of all kinds, glassware, agricultural implements, flour and meal, paper manufactures, kerosene oil, cars, carriages, fish, metal goods, vegetables, fruits, hats and caps, rubber goods, fertilizers, earthen and chinaware, and a number of other important articles.

BEER AND MALT DUTIES.

The House of Commons, in Committee of Ways and Means, made changes in the item of beer, ale and porter imported and also in the excise duty upon beer made from other materials than malt, such as sugar, rice or corn. Mr. Foster said he thought it wise to raise the excise duty upon this kind of beer from 4 to 10 per cent, the object being to prevent the manufacture of that kind of beer, it being of very poor quality, and to preserve the manufacture of beer from malt. It also imposed six cents instead of three, as proposed, upon imported ales, porter and beer in bottles. The resolution was carried.

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Premier Abbott announced in the Senate to day that a royal commission would be appointed to enquire into the working of the civil service, owing to the recent disclosures.

The case of Cochrane in the Commons was referred to a special committee to investigate.

There were no new developments at the Senate committee to-day, although an effort was made to prove that out of one of the $20,000 cheques Pacaud got $8000 to purchase a new house for himself.

SIR HECTOR CONTRADICTED.

Starrs, of Starrs & O'Hanley, contractors, was recalled before the Privileges and Elections Committee this morning and was again examined in regard to the evidence of Sir Hector Langevin yesterday. Sir Hector then denied that he sent for Starrs and asked him to withdraw their tender for the construction of the Esquimalt graving dock, although he admitted showing Starrs the report of Perley, giving an estimate of the work. To-day Starrs corroborated the evidence he had already given, and flatly contradicted the statements of Sir Hector. Starrs said their tender was withdrawn after two interviews with Sir Hector, who told him that his figures were too low to complete the work, that there would be no extras, that none would be allowed, and that the work was all theirs and would not permit extras. The Minister gave Starrs some time to consider the matter. At a second interview Starrs told Sir Hector that he would withdraw, although he was satisfied his figures were high enough, because he though that he (the Minister) did not wish him to have the work. A letter asking leave to withdraw the tender was written in the department that day by Starrs. The statement that the amount for the contract was too low was incorrect, it being placed there to satisfy Sir Hector Langevin. O'Hanley, who was then interested with Starrs, was next examined, and corroborated all that Starrs had said. Both men are staunch Conservatives. It will be remembered that the day after the Starrs & O'Hanley tender was withdrawn, the minister prepared his memorandum to council, granting the contract to Larkin, Connolly & Co.

This closed the evidence, and the committee adjourned to Tuesday, when the question as to whether the resignation of Thomas McGreevy is legal or not will be discussed. This opens an entirely new branch of the case, and it is certain to provoke an animated discussion, judging from what took place in the House yesterday.

COCHRANE'S DEFENCE.

It is understood that the defence of Cochrane in reference to the charges made against him by Cameron (Huron) will be that selling of public offices for a consideration was done by the Conservative association and not by himself. He says he is not responsible for the acts of the association.

NON EST INVENTUS.

Col. Smith, assistant sergeant-at-arms returned to-day from Quebec, where he was endeavoring to arrest McGreevy. He says he was unable to find McGreevy, who was reported to have gone to the United States before he arrived, and who did not intend returning until Parliament prorogued.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

The Distinguished American Author who Died Last Week.

The death of Lowell leaves but two of the prominent group of American poets, and the survivors, Holmes and Whittier, are both old and feeble. Lowell's death leads the New York Post to ask: Who shall fill the gaps left by Longfellow, Emerson and Lowell, not to mention that of our own Bryant, their contemporary and equal? Who shall sit in the chairs soon to be empty, of Holmes and Whittier? Is the world's tone changing? Is poetry dying? Will England find anybody to wear the laurels of Browning and Tennyson? These are questions that everybody is asking and nobody can answer.

THE KENT RACES A DECIDED SUCCESS.

THE TURF.

Special to the TIMES.

KENT, Wash., Aug. 19.—2.50 p.m.—In starting the half dash to-day, the first event to occur, an accident happened in which Jockey McIntyre was seriously hurt. While waiting for the word he was thrown from the back of his mount, Queen, and sustained severe injuries of the back. The race was delayed while a new jockey was sent for.

YESTERDAY'S RACES.

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—The Kent races yesterday were a decided success. With the track in good condition, and the weather fine there was everything to be desired. The attendance was about fifteen hundred.

LAWN TENNIS.

YESTERDAY'S TENNIS.

This year's tournament has been a surprise to most Victorian tennis players. Not only has an increased interest been displayed, but some unusually good players have blossomed unexpectedly, and play of a very clever character has been shown.

In the gentlemen's singles Stanhope defeated Morley 6-1, 6-3; Cuppage defeated Dean 6-1, 6-3. Mr. Dean has been accustomed to a wooden or asphalt court, and besides that his wrist was badly sprained. Foulkes defeated Walker 6-2, 6-0; and Alexander Stanhope 6-2, 6-1. Mr. Cuppage and Mr. Foulkes played this afternoon, and the winner will play Mr. Alexander to-morrow, and the winner of the final will play Mr. Longe, the provincial champion, which match is expected to take place on Saturday.

The ladies' singles yesterday were very interesting and closely contested matches. Miss Musgrave defeated Miss Jennie, 6-3, 6-3; Miss Leater defeated Miss Crease, 5-6, 6-1, 6-3; Miss Langley defeated Mrs. Wilson, 6-1, 6-3; and Mrs. Pinder, Miss M. J. Tyrwhitt Drake, 6-3, 6-3. This leaves Miss Musgrave and Miss Leather, and Miss Langley and Mrs Pinder to play. The winner of these will play Miss Barkley.

Coombe beat Clifton in the gentlemen's handicap singles, 6-2, 6-3.

In the gentleman's doubles Stanhope and Strickland defeated Haynes and Clifton, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

Mixed doubles—Hayes and Miss Ward defeated Capt. Jones and Miss Powell, 6-0, 6-4; Coombe and Mrs. Coombe beat Ward and Miss Davie, 6-5, 6-2; Strickland and Mrs. Bramsden beat Newton and Miss Hills, 6-5, 6-3; Marshall and Miss E. Dunsmuir beat Mortin and Miss Pinder, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5.

THE OAR.

WESTMINSTER'S OFFER.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 20.—The Citizens' celebration committee met last night and decided to offer extra inducements for Hanlan and O'Connor to come here. Peterson is also coming to try for the $1000. He thinks he can beat Hanlan on a fair course. The sum voted by the aquatic committee is $2,200.

SEATTLE HAS A CHAMPION.

Seattle has an oarsman who is prepared to match himself against Peterson. He is unassuming as to his merits, and is only forced into prominence by the self-assertiveness of the California champion. Peterson, who evidently thinks because he got away with "Shon" McLean of Victoria, he can down all the Northwestern oarsmen. Seattle's man is Robert Meyer, and he is ready to row Peterson three miles and a turn, or three miles straight, in shells, on Lake Washington, on any date to be determined on, inside of two months, for $1000 a side. Mr. Meyer is a native of New York city, and is 28 years of age. He was formerly a member of the Catlin boat club of Chicago, rowed No. 3 in a gig crew at Pullman, Ill., on July 4th, 1882. He is also a former member of the Seawanhaka boat club of Brooklyn, N.Y., and rowed in the gig crew champion of Long Island on Sept. 5, 1886. He rowed No 4 in the Seawanhaka eight-oared shell crew in the Long Island rowing association on Sept. 5, 1887, and No. 3 in the four-oared shell crew winners of the Wallabout regatta on September 30 of the same year, and in June rowed stroke in a winning pair-oared gig at Yonkers, N Y., and also in the junior sculls race. On June 12, 1888, he rowed bow oar pair-oared gig in the Wallabout regatta. Mr. Myer also rowed bow oar for the Ariel boat club of Baltimore, and won the Petapeco navy regatta challenge cup, beating the celebrated "Big Four" team, of Washington, D. C. On July 4, 1889, he rowed stroke in the four-oared shell race in the People's regatta in Philadelphia, and won in 8-01 minutes, the best time ever made on the Schuykill river. On July 26 of the same year he was stroke oar of the team that won the four-oared shell race at Annapolis, Md. From all which it may be learned, by the intelligent onlooker and observer that Mr. Meyer is no greenhorned tenderfoot on the sliding seat—as it were. Mr. Meyer declines to say more about what he has done, or can do, because, in his opinion, it needs more muscle than wind to propel a shell, as it is not, and cannot be, by any conceivable possibility, a sailboat.—Press Times.

Peterson has agreed to come north to take part in the Westminster regatta.

THE GUN.

In a dreadfully bad light yesterday the final shoot for classification in the Curtiss-Harvey competition took place. H. N. Short, C. W. Minor, and J. C. Maclure stand highest in the series now. The actual shoot takes place Saturday next. Following is the score:

UNION GUN CLUB.

H. N. Short	23
J. C. Maclure	20
J. M. Langley	16
C. W. Minor	15
B. John	14
R. Short	14
W. A. Dier	13
F. S. Maclure	12
C. Hayward	10

VICTORIA GUN CLUB.

E. H. Henley	14
W. Henley	11
W. Pallen	9

BASEBALL.

Manager Baker last evening received a telegram from the manager of the Seattle Maroons, stating that they could not come over unless two games were played, one on Saturday and one on Sunday. Manager Baker does not think that it would be advisable to play on Sunday, so it is doubtful if a game can be arranged.

At Seattle, on Tuesday, the Portlands beat the Seattles by a score of 9 to 8, with but two men out. It took 10 innings to win the game.

SIR HECTOR'S STORY.

STATEMENTS MADE UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Some Remarkable Shiftings – Throwing Responsibility on Perley and Boyd– The Esquimalt Dock Changes–A Fishy Story About the $19,000 Reduction.

When Sir Hector Langevin was undergoing cross-examination he was asked:

About the deduction of $9,000 from the plant at Esquimalt; do you say you have no knowledge whatever of it?

There was a report by Mr. Perley, in which he mentioned the plant and material, and says that at a future period there may be some negotiations about this, and then the only time after the matter came, not to my knowledge, but to the department, when he added the $19,000 that had been deducted from the monthly payments of the contractors. That did not come to my knowledge. Mr. Perley admits that. It should have come to my knowledge. The final estimates do not come under my supervision. In this case Mr. Perley should have called my attention to it, and it was an oversight on his part not to do so. I used to work sixteen, seventeen or eighteen hours a day, and did not have time to go into details.

Will you explain what is meant by the statement that Mr. Perley would pass the final estimate without the usual signature?

It may mean that when the final estimate was made, it was not to be signed by a contractor as a final receipt, and thereby shut off any other claim the contractor might have.

Did you have with Captain Larkin the conversation in which he says you spoke to him about the British Columbia contract, and the reduction on the plant?

I don't remember; but I am sure I did not promise to make any reduction. I simply said we would look into the matter.

There is no promise?

If he took it as a promise he did not understand the usages of the department.

Seeing that it was done, does it not seem that he understood right?

It was done without my knowledge.

Now Larkin has received this morning a letter from N. K. Connolly, of 29th October, 1884, in which he says the firm was offered the work. Would this letter have any connection with the conversation?

I don't remember. They were the lowest and consequently were offered the work.

THE CROSS-WALL.

In connection with the cross-wall you knew of the tenderers' errors?

I am not sure.

Mr. Perley spoke about that?

He may have done so. When it was apparent that a contractor had made errors, they were often allowed to make corrections.

Do you allow a party to amend his tender when all the other tenders have been opened?

No, but in this case Beaucage could not take the work at the price he gave, therefore Mr. Perley made the additions.

Is there another single instance where tenders amended have been taken into consideration?

This was the action of the chief engineer, not of the department. I do not know of another instance, but where errors are discovered the attention of the tenderer is called to them.

Is it not a fact that next year Starrs & O'Hanly were not allowed to amend their tender?

Yes, that proves the rule.

BLAMING BOYD AND PERLEY.

At another stage, when asked about Thos. McGreevy's sources of information, Sir Hector said Mr. Boyd might have given information about the tenders and so might any clerk that had to do with the writing of the letter.

Mr. Tarte—Mr. Boyd did not write the letters and he is a dead man.

Witness—Nevertheless, if you will allow me, Mr. Boyd may have done it in this way. When he spoke to the engineer he called the attention of the engineer-in-chief to the fact that these three tenders of Gallagher, Beaucage and Larkin, Connolly & Co., were faulty; that there were errors and that he should call their attention to them. That being so, Mr. Boyd may have stated to Mr. McGreevy, who was one of the harbor commissioners and evidently saw Mr. Boyd more than once, that he had called the attention of the chief engineer to the three lowest tenders and he was to write to them. But, of course, I do not know. He did not remember whether Perley showed him the alterations in the figures.

When the tenders came up from Quebec they were received by the chief engineer here and extended to Mr. Boyd. When the errors in the tenders were discovered Mr. Perley wrote to ask the reason. It was upon the report in which these explanations were made that he (witness) reported to committee. Gallagher withdrew his contract twelve days before the contract was accepted. Mr. Perley was responsible for any delay that there might have been. He did not see all the letters received in the department; in fact, it was impossible for him to do so. The department receives about 30,000 letters a year, last year the chief engineer of the department sent out 4045 and the chief architect 7751. The letter that the chief engineer sent to Gallagher was sent from his branch and the answer he received was to himself and not to the Department. Sir Hector acted wholly upon Perley's reports.

He knew nothing about the profits made by Larkin, Connolly & Co. upon the Esquimalt dock beyond what he had heard in this inquiry, and not knowing Mr. Perley's calculations could not tell why he assumed that Starrs & O'Hanley's tender was too low.

He did not remember Baskerville sending telegrams to Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare in reference to the dock. If they were on department business they would be in the department; if they were his own telegrams they were destroyed, as he never kept any telegrams.

THE TWO SETS OF TENDERS.

When the first tenders for the Esquimault dry dock were rejected the Government were bound by agreement with British Columbia to call for fresh tenders. If the first tenders had not been too high or too low one of them would have been accepted. He did not control Mr. Perley's reports. He made his reports as he found the case. He had no doubt that the instructions sent by Perley to Trutch were the result of a conference between himself and Perley. All the details were under Perley's direction. Personally he knew no more about the details of that work than of all the other works in the Dominion. He did not know of the reduction of the plant at Esquimalt until he saw it stated here. Mr. Perley took it upon himself to deduct the $19,000 on the final estimate. He did not remember Thomas McGreevy complaining to him about Bennett. He was not aware that anyone spoke to him upon the subject except Mr. Perley. He did not remember Williams speaking to him about the position. Williams was employed at that time as an extra clerk by Parliament and was there on his (witness') recommendation. He knew the man was in great want and he thought he could do that work here, but he would not have recommended him to be the engineer in British Columbia for this work.

He supposed that Perley was authorized to write to Trutch as he did about the recoursing of the British Columbia dock. He did not remember whether the department had been warned by Mr. Trutch that this change would involve a heavy extra expenditure. The authority to use larger stones was given only after the discovery of the new quarry after Mr. Perley returned from British Columbia. He stated that the adoption of these larger stones would be a great benefit to the work, but that, inasmuch as it was costing a good deal more money to the contractors than by putting in the smaller ones, it was only just and proper, in his opinion, that they should be paid the difference according to the schedule of prices on their contract. That was agreed to.

If he had known that any of his officers had communicated to Mr. McGreevy or any one else matters that should not be communicated that officer would not have remained in the office ten minutes. He did not know anything about it till this enquiry came on. He tried to ascertain or inform himself about it to see if any officer had given any information that he ought not to have given, but he could not find out.

THE DOCK CHANGES.

Further on Sir Hector was asked:—

Do you know the profits of Larkin, Connolly & Co. in the British Columbia works?

No.

We have it in evidence that their profit was in all $282,729.

I know nothing about that.

What was the reason the second set of tenders was asked for?

Because the first tenders were set aside.

Asked to explain the discrepancy between the contract price of the Esquimalt dock, which was $374,000, and the total cost, which was $581,000, Sir Hector produced a statement made by Engineer Coste to him, which, after a warm debate, he was allowed to read. It was as follows:—

Amount of tender	$373,559
Final estimate	581,527
Difference	$206,968

This difference of $206,968 is made up as follows:—

Extra work not in tender	$ 47,584
Keel blocks—special agreement	2,469
Allowance for plant	19,927
Extra earth and rock excavati'n	44,400
Recoursing and stone	41,200
Substitution of stone for brick	5,800
Circular head	31,500
Increase in other materials	14,087
Total	$206,986

IN A CLOSE CORNER.

At another time Sir Hector was more closely pressed regarding the $19,000 reduction.

To Mr. Davies he said that he had always given the closest attention to his departmental duties.

"Then," asked Mr. Davies, "do you place the whole responsibility of allowing $20,000 of a rebate to Larkin & Co. on the government plant at Esquimalt on Mr. Perley?"

"Mr. Perley has taken that responsibility himself."

Mr. Davies: "I differ from you there. I will show you that Mr. Perley reported against it." He then read Mr. Perley's letter to that effect. Sir Hector said he adopted Mr. Perley's report, yet he said Mr. Perley, after making that report, did allow the $20,000 without his knowledge.

Mr. Davies—Did you ever reprimand him?

Sir Hector—I don't remember; I do not remember my attention being brought to it to my knowledge.

Mr. Davies—But that was one of the largest contracts in your department. Do you allow your subordinates to manage the whole work of your office?

Sir Hector—No, but I could not possibly attend to all.

The brusque and fussy impulse of these days of false impression would rate down all as worthless because one is unworthy. As if there were no motes in sunbeams! or comets among stars! or cataracts in peaceful rivers! Because one remedy professes to do what it never was adapted to do, are all remedies worthless? Because one doctor lets his patient die, are all humbugs? It requires a fine eye and a finer brain to discriminate—to draw the differential line. "They say" that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have cured thousands. "They say" for a weak system there's nothing better than the "Discovery," and that the "Favorite prescription" is the hope of debilitated, feeble women who need a restorative tonic and bracing nervine. And here's the proof:—Try one or both. If they don't help you, tell the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N.Y., and you get your money back again.

CANADIAN NEWS.

Newspapers Seized—The Recent Census—The Rice Lake Accident.

A Canadian Pacific tea train was derailed at McGregor, Man., by a cow yesterday morning, but no one was killed.

The Globe says the enumeration by the recent census will show the total Dominion population to be less than five millions.

A locomotive and two cars ran into the Rideau Canal at Ottawa, owing to carelessness on the part of an employe who left the drawbridge open. The engineer escaped by jumping.

John Callahan, an employee of the Hamilton Street Railway Company, has been caught pilfering from the car fares, and has confessed to having saved about $15,000 in this manner.

The Rochester, N.Y., post office authorities confiscated a number of Canadian newspapers containing lottery advertisements, including the Spectator and Times, of Hamilton, and the Empire of Toronto.

The little daughter of David Gardner was killed at Neepwa, Manitoba. The father was cleaning a gun when one of the shells exploded, the bullet passing upstairs and through the body of the child, who was sleeping on her bed.

The refusal of President Van Horne to speak of the new line of trans-Atlantic steamships between Great Britain and Canada, is taken at Quebec as evidence that Grand Trunk influence has killed the scheme, at least for the present.

Montreal stevedores who had not the good luck to be engaged by the regular lines this season are experiencing exceedingly hard times. Competition for the little work that is to be done has been so keen among them that prices have been steadily cut below the figures for any previous year.

The Montreal Star, discussing the political situation, suggests, as a solution, the formation of a coalition government by Hon. Edward Blake and Sir John Thompson. It says: "We believe these two men, sinking, for the time and occasion, their political differences, could nominate a cabinet that would inspire hope throughout the country, and command the support, politically, of the whole honest electorate."

A man poorly dressed, walked quietly down to a Montreal wharf, coolly took off his coat and hat, and almost before he had attracted any one's attention he plunged into the river, and was lost to sight. He never rose to the surface and was quickly carried away by the swift current. A man called at the Harbor Police station afterwards and recognized the coat as one belonging to a barber named Michel Chapron, residing on St. Paul street.

While a schooner was unloading coal at the penitentiary wharf, Kingston, a convict engaged in unloading the craft, slipped into the water and swam to the opposite shore unnoticed. He then made his way towards the city, giving the residence of Mr. J. B. Murphy a call. At that place he stole a suit of clothes belonging to a servant and made a complete escape. He was William Mackie who was sentenced to three years in Northumberland county last spring.

A Port Hope dispatch gives the following account of the boating accident on Rice Lake: A great many campers are just now located on Lee's Point and a party of them, consisting of H. Bean, Mr. and Mrs. John Hawkins, Nellie Peters and Tutie Hawkins, left in the afternoon for Bewdley, at the head of the lake, for mails. At Bewdley the the party were joined by Miss McElroy and Florence Maybee, aged 16 years, and on the return trip a heavy squall came up in a hurry. The squall struck the boat so heavily weighted with its human freight, and the result was the capsizing of the craft. The seven occupants were precipitated into the water, but all of them except Miss Maybee clung to the upset boat. Mr. Hawkins endeavored to assist her, and being unable to swim the two went down together. Mrs. Hawkins on seeing her husband sink, fainted, and lost her hold on the boat and sank out of sight. Mr. W. A. Lee, of the Port Hope public school, witnessed the accident from the Point and went to the scene and succeeded in saving the other four.

FOREIGN EVENTS.

The Manipur Execution—French Wine Growers—Crops Damaged.

Lewis Paulsen, the distinguished chess player, is dead.

William Turner, the murderer of Barbara Waterhouse, was hanged at Leeds, England.

The infectious disease institute at Berlin was formally opened in the presence of Prof. Koch.

At Chelmsford, England, Sadler, the man who stabbed and killed the husband of his paramour, was hanged.

Hailstorms in the Moselle Sarre valley, Germany, have caused damage to crops to the extent of 1,000,000 marks.

A horrible accident is reported from Nordenhamme, Oldenburg. A scaffold on which a large number of men were working, collapsed, dragging with it in its fall a lower scaffold with more men. Ten men were killed and 40 seriously injured.

The execution of the Manipur princes has created a profound sensation throughout India. The press of India, which is printed in the native language strongly condemns the so-called "hurried orders" issued for the execution, which the press declare was hastened lest English opinion should undergo a change in favor of the condemned princes after publication of their defence. The Tongal general's execution particularly shocked the native feeling. It is asserted he was too ill to stand up and the executioners were obliged to lift him on a stool before the drop fell.

A syndicate of wine growers has been formed at Epernay, France, for mutual insurance against individual losses from phylloxera. A meeting attended by 1000 persons was held at Epernay to promote this object, but was invaded by a body of wine growers hostile to the measure, who captured the meeting and elected a committee opposed to the scheme. The opponents of the syndicate declare that there is no danger at present from phylloxera and that the movement is a speculative one. They also oppose the government's proposal to appoint inspectors, who shall have the right to enter all vineyards and take measures against phylloxera.

MATTERS IN CHINA.

A Grave Situation—Chinese Hostility to the Tartar Dynasty—Missionaries Helpless.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 19.—The situation at Pekin is grave. The ministers of England, France and Germany, in behalf of all others, have daily interviews with Tzung Li Yamen.

Hunan is the centre of the trouble. The bulk of the army is composed of Hunan men, and they defy the authority of the Pekin government.

The foreign ministers insist that secret societies shall be suppressed; that Hunan shall be opened to commerce; that the mandarins who were implicated in the riots shall be degraded; that full amends be given for the outrages, with assurance for the future, and failing this, the powers will take immediate concerted action.

China's government recognizes that the old tactics of playing the powers against each other is futile, and is aghast at their unanimity. The Emperor is anxious to avoid war, and dreads attempting to coerce the provinces, doubting the loyalty of the high officials. The Chinese openly favor a pure Chinaman for Emperor, and advocate expelling the Tartar dynasty. The attitude of many of the viceroys is suspicious. Li Hung Chang is sitting still, keeping away from the scene of the trouble. The cost of 20 foreign war ships in Yang-tse-Kiang is heavy, but if they are moved the outrages will be repeated.

An English missionary named Gray was nearly murdered by soldiers at Kiran, and unless steps are taken all missionaries will cease operations.

The central government's usual tactics are to temporize, and refer matters to the local officials; but the ministers decline to change the venue from Pekin. They have gone too far for retraction without a total loss of prestige. The government is utterly paralyzed, and afraid to display its rottenness by attempting any action. The English, Russian and French fleets are awaiting orders within easy distance.

China is in a dilemma with regard to the movements against her rebellious subjects. The Imperial dynasty's refusal would render foreign intervention inevitable. It is believed, however, that at the first sign of force, the present obstinacy of the government would give way.

Pennsylvania Republicans.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 19.—The platform adopted by the Republican State Convention indorses James G. Blaine for nominee as President in 1892. The Republican State Convention was called to order at 10:40 o'clock this morning. The portion of the speech of temporary Chairman Hall, referring to James G. Blaine as "That Republican of Republicans, that leader of leaders," was vociferously cheered. The platform also indorses the administration of President Harrison and Postmaster-General Wanamaker, and approves of the course of the Republicans in the last Congress, especially in the passage of the McKinley bill. Regarding Blaine, the resolutions declare: "In view of his magnificent achievements in diplomacy and statecraft, we earnestly hope the Republican National Convention of 1892 may place him unanimously for nomination for the presidency, which nomination we feel assured will be followed by a triumphant election of James G. Blaine, of Pennsylvania and Maine." Bimetalism should be so regulated as to allow free coinage of gold and silver produced from American mines, and tariff duties to protect the country and its currency from debasement, are also favored. Devotion to the welfare of Union soldiers is re-affirmed.

Why It is Popular.

Because it has proven its absolute merit over and over again, because it has an unequalled record of cures, because its business is conducted in a thoroughly honest manner, and because it combines economy and strength, being the only medicine of which "100 Doses One Dollar" is true—these strong points have made Hood's Sarsaparilla the most successful medicine of the day.

Quebec as a Wheat Shipping Port.

QUEBEC, Aug. 18.—President Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific railway has arrived here. He declines to speak of the result of his European mission. Van Horne states that Quebec is now to be used by the Canadian Pacific as a port of shipment for Canadian grain to England, since the enormous increase in the wheat crop of the Canadian Northwest will much more than exhaust Montreal's terminal facilities.

Stick to the Right.

Right actions spring from right principles. In cases of diarrhœa, dysentery, cramps, colic, summer complaint, cholera morbus, etc., the right remedy is Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—an unfailing cure—made on the principle that nature's remedies are best. Never travel without it.

A Congratulation.

Mr. Frank B. Fenwick, one of Canada's best known professors of voice culture, is the recipient of a most congratulatory letter from one of the greatest of living musicians. He says: "I have much pleasure in stating that it affords me gratification to endorse the claims of Mr. Frank B. Fenwick to recognition at any time. I know he has had great experience and met with well earned success both as a teacher in singing, a critic, and a choir director. The method he adopts, founded on the pure Italian system, is the only one calculated to develop the voice and ensure satisfactory articulation, an important detail too often neglected." He concludes with the earnest wish that Mr. Fenwick will have a continuance of the success he has already creditably achieved. This from Mr. Frederic Archer, upon a private enquiry, is of the utmost importance, and is an endorsement of the best musicians in Canada of the high standard of vocalisation supported by Mr. Fenwick.

For the cure of female weakness, suppressions, nervousness, bearing down pains and all those peculiar ailments that make woman's life almost unbearable, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an unfailing cure. A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

There settled in Baker county, Oregon, near what is now Baker City, a man who has since become identified with the resources and development of that country. This man is no other than Mr. John Stewart, one of the wealthiest and most influential citizens in the county. In a recent letter he says: "I had been suffering from pains in my back and general kidney complaint for some time, and had used many remedies without any but temporary relief. The pains in my back had become so severe that I was prevented from attending to my work and could not move about without the use of a cane. Hearing through a friend, of the wonderful cures effected by Oregon Kidney Tea, I was induced to try a box, and from that very first dose I found instant relief, and before using half the contents of the box the pains in my back entirely disappeared. I have every faith in the virtues of the Oregon Kidney Tea, and can conscientiously recommend it to my friends. I would not be without it for anything."

Oregon Kidney Tea cures backache, incontinence of urine, brick dust sediment, burning or painful sensation while urinating, and all affections of the kidney or urinary organs of either sex.

THE "DR." AGAIN.

The Colonist states that the TIMES has "by its own admission," advised the trustees to pursue a course contrary to law. This statement the Colonist itself knows to be untrue. A lecture on good manners from the Government organ would be a grievous affliction in any case, but when the lecture starts off with a statement that is—to use plain English—a lie, the burden is too great. The TIMES has as much respect for the law as the Colonist can possibly have, even the School Act.; but the TIMES confesses to feeling in regard to that act, to transpose "Junius," that while as a loyal subject it would not advise arbitrary measures, it equally dislikes to submit to them. But as to the board of Trustees, they run themselves. The TIMES does not own them, as does the Government a minority of the board. The Trustees, so far as the TIMES is concerned, are perfectly independent. The TIMES would not allow a relationship to exist with that body that would prevent it from criticising its actions. And, another thing, the Trustees have not acted contrary to law. If DR. POPE can logically plead that there is nothing in the law to compel him to deliver up examination papers, so can the trustees plead with equal logic that there is nothing in the law that forbids them making the request. A request is not a command, and all that the trustees did was to ask, in effect, that Dr. POPE kindly explain why it is that Honest Johnism marks poor Latin scholars up and proficient Latin scholars down?

Our contemporary lays great stress on the alleged coarseness of the TIMES' treatment of school matters, particularly in relation to the School Act. The accusation sounds strangely in the mouth of a sheet that has just lied, and which is prostituting its intellect in defense of a man who is interposing Honest Johnism to save him from the consequences of egregious ignorance or stupid blundering. The mere observance of the law, and the prophets will not save a man from damnation, if we may trust the preachers. His heart must be honest. Just so with Dr. POPE. Honest Johnism may preserve him his place as one of the trinity of the Council of Instruction, but his final dislodgement is certain unless he is what he professes to be, a competent and conscientious Superintendent of Education. Taking another view of the matter, why should the TIMES treat with becoming gravity a School Act conceived in "bossism," and all that means as affording a shield to ignorance and treachery? The TIMES will never treat measures of this character in any other than a strain distasteful to the journalistic henchmen of the would-be absolutists of James Bay. When the Hon. JOHN ROBSON shall conceive of and pass a measure which reflects credit on his heart as well as his head, the TIMES will take pleasure in approving of it after a fashion corresponding with the Colonistic idea of propriety, but not before.

The Board of Trustees, the Colonist informs us, is only one of one hundred and fifty boards in the Province—a bit of information which speaks volumes for its statistical faculty—which boards to cite the Colonist further, would keep the Dr busy had they the power to compel him to appear before them whenever they desired to learn something of the Latin tongue. The answer to this is, the Trustees found that the schools are not treated alike. For instance, the principal of the High School is deprived of powers that naturally and rightfully belong to him, while other teachers are permitted to exercise their full powers. Why is this? Will the Colonist undertake to answer the question categorically? The Trustees wanted to find out why the principal of the High School had been deprived of his natural and rightful powers, and turned to Dr. POPE for information. The Dr. screens himself behind the School Act. The School Act does not require him to explain why he has acted in an arbitrary and unlawful manner. Explanations of this character are not according to Honest JOHN. If, however, the Colonist will categorically answer the question we have put, it will do the Trustees a service. It will have supplied them with information that the Dr. refuses to disclose. The Colonist however does not dare answer the question.

MATTERS AND THINGS.

The Imperial protection business, upon which Tory sheets lay so much stress when they are hard put for argument, does not sound very well these latter days. It is a kind of protection that does not protect, as some half a hundred sealing captains here discovered, and as has been found out in divers other ways. There is no greater misnomer going than this Imperial protection in the Tory sense of the term. The rapacity and the ferocity of mediævalism has given place to corners and syndicates, preferential duties and protection. If the United States should put a virtually prohibitory duty on British West India products, it would prove more effectual as compelling the commercial relations sought than bayonets. The pressure that has been brought to bear on the State Department at Washington and on Downing Street by capitalized interests has proved itself quite as potent in respect of squelching the sealing business as would have been the use of gunpowder. Imperial protection is no longer a concrete substance; it has been relegated to a figure of speech. To come to the point, the Colonist this morning endeavors to wriggle out of its position in relation to the dry dock. It raises a quibble as to the difference between $250,000 and £50,000, conjointly with the Imperial protection misnomer. As we have already disposed of the Imperial protection business, we will simply say that the difference between $250,000, and £50,000 is $8000. Whether the Imperial Government put $250,000 or $242,000 into the dock is not worth discussing, and even if such were the case it is no answer to our statement that Victoria's members of Parliament are not equal to the responsibilities of their position. And while we are on this subject we may as well point out that the Colonist is not the only journalistic prevaricator in this Province. The Vancouver Telegram charges the TIMES with having referred to Mr. EARLE as corrupt. We quote: "Mr. EARLE is not only a supporter of a corrupt government, and therefore, by inference corrupt himself, but worse than all is not corrupt in the right place or to the proper extent." This is not true. The TIMES left it to be inferred that Mr. EARLE has failed as a legislator. That was all.

BLAINE AND THE IRISH.

BLAINE, it will be remembered, on account of his tail-twisting proclivities, was the favorite of the Irish in his presidential race against CLEVELAND, and only, probably, for the indiscreet utterance of Parson BURCHARD as to "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion," he would have carried the State of New York, which would have given him the majority in the electoral college. Probably never before did alliteration play so important a part in determining an election. But BURCHARD and his three "R's" are forgotten, and as BLAINE's candidacy grows with his returning health, his old Irish support is making itself heard. This is what the Irish World has to say about his candidacy:

The popularity of Mr. Blaine, which was never doubted at any time, has so grown in intensity and volume in the last few weeks that there is no longer any question as to his being the practically unanimous choice of his party for the presidential nomination next year. Reports from North, South, East and West show that he is the one man whom the Republicans desire to have as their leader in the campaign of 1891. * * * * The nomination of James G. Blaine would be in itself a platform that would powerfully appeal to the sense of patriotism in all Americans, no matter what their political affiliations might be. That such an appeal would not be unheeded is apparent to every one who knows anything of Democratic sentiment towards Mr. Blaine. With him in the forefront as the standard bearer of the Protectionists there would be such a stampede from the Democratic party as was never before witnessed. There is no other man in the country who could command so many votes outside his own party as James G. Blaine.

There is this much about it, if the Republicans are to have the next President BLAINE is the man. He represents the mean between McKinleyism and Cobdenism, and, considering the vast interests at stake, such a man is to be preferred to one representing either of these extremes. The Irish, however, will be fooled if they support BLAINE as a tail-twister. BLAINE is a statesman. Considering that he has the weak side of the argument in the Behring Sea matter, the fact of his having forborne shaking the red rag at John Bull proves that he is no longer a politician panting to wallow in English gore.

FEMININE BENEVOLENCE.

Blessing Old Bachelors with All the Comforts of Home.

Quite the latest organization of women is a society of "ladies to look after bachelors' linen when it has come from the laundress." There is no beneficence which appeals so irresistibly to the tenderness of womanhood, or which will have more enthusiastic workers of a certain kind than this, devoted to the amelioration of the condition of the most fortunate creatures in the world—the old bachelors. It is to be hoped, says the New York Sun, that this is but the nucleus of a greater organization that shall take up other needed lines of work with the same general object: that there will be associations of sweet girls devoted to the holding of old bachelors' heads on the morning after a club dinner and applying the refreshing ice-poultice; that there will be self-denying women going about to straighten up old bachelors' parlors and put things away where the owners can never find them. Perhaps there will be thoughtful, unselfish women who will fill all the hooks in the bachelors' closets with skirts, and leave him to hang his things upon the floor, like the enviable benedict, because there isn't any other place to hang them. And possibly some humane mother will be found who will allow the unfortunate, lonely bachelor to walk the corridor three or four hours in the night with a baby with the croup, or wrestling with a dentition. Truly, this is a work worthy the efforts of all gentle ladies.

Decay of Japanese Art.

The National Exposition at Tokio, which has recently been brought to a close, affords interesting but painful evidence of the change which is passing over the fine arts of Japan. Of the one thousand six hundred diplomas and prizes distributed among the eight thousand five hundred exhibiters, only one was awarded for lacquer, a product in the magnificent manufacture of which Japan has always held the pre-eminence, and even in this case it is for a Western adaptation. Photographs, table-cloths, and alcove ornaments bear away the palm from a native manufacture whose death-knell was sounded when cheapness and rapidity of fabrication became a sine qua non of its acceptance in the markets of the world.

Robinson Crusoe's Island.

The island of Juan Fernandez, once inhabited by Robinson Crusoe, is now tenanted by a former Austrian officer, Baron von Rodth, who, after being forced by the terrible wounds which he received at the battle of Sadowa in 1866 to leave the army, grew tired of the monotony of existence in civilized Europe and determined to devote his fortune to a life of adventure. For fifteen years past, says Harper's Weekly, he has been living on the island of Juan Fernandez with a small colony of natives and of European deserters from civilization and only communicating with the world once a year, when he sends his fine sailing yacht to Valparaiso for provisions and supplies.

For Better Hotel Accommodation.

The meeting called by the B.C. Board of Trade for 8 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, to consider the proposition to build a first-class hotel in the city, should be largely attended. The Board especially invite capitalists to be present to discuss the matter, which is of vital importance to Victoria. The mayor and aldermen will attend.

In consequence of the recent excursion to Seattle, under the auspices of the ladies auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital, the ladies will be enabled to hand over to the institution a sum of about $300 after all expenses have been paid. He was east a few months ago and made a personal selection of his stock, which consists principally of blankets, underwear, cigars, and a variety of notions. Merchants will do well to call and examine his stock at 42 Yates street, as there is no doubt that bargains can be secured.

They Want Their Wages.

Capt. Smythe of the bark Serica was charged in the Provincial court this afternoon with refusing to pay three sailors of his ship their wages. Mr. Mills who appeared for the defense, contended that the court had no jurisdiction as a sailor who signed articles in the U. K. could not demand wages until he returned to the United Kingdom. Mr. Mason on the other side contended that the articles were illegal. The two lawyers argued the case all the afternoon. The complainants are three of the men who were recently charged with refusing to do their duty.

Figures Wont lie.

And this is the way it figures, paying for a home without money, providing you are paying $25 a month rent. In five years you would pay $1500 that you would never get back, not even interest. And the natural advance in five years on your property ought to be about $500, total $2000. So if you should purchase one of those beautiful $2000 cottages of Young & Bartlett, No 9 Trounce Avenue, on the installment plan, in five years you will virtually have paid for your home without money.

Clear to the Driving Park.

Drivers and pedestrians will have a little more elbow room to drive from the Jubilee hospital to the Driving park on the occasion of the coming exhibition and meeting of the Jocky Club. To-day the contract was given for the putting back of the hospital fence, while several other boundaries on either side of the road were also being removed the requisite ten feet. Monday the surveyors of the street car company will commence to survey the line to the driving park. The track will be laid along the roadside. More than half the rails are already here and the remainder are expected next week, so that it is presumed that the cars will be running out to the exhibition.

Mr. Lister has received an appointment on another ship, and is returning home to assume his new duties. He has been three years on board the Pheasant. Hool Sam's Funeral.

This was a great day in Chinatown, the occasion being the funeral of Hool Sam, chief of the Highbinders. The remains lay in state in the Highbinders' hall during the early afternoon, the late chief's brethren making the usual demonstrations to frighten away the devil. Afterwards a funeral procession of unusual proportions paraded the streets, the Highbinders and other Chinese turning out in force. The body will be sent to China on the Parthia, which is due to leave to-day or to-morrow.

Gray vs. McCallum.

The case of Gray vs. McCallum, which has occupied the attention of Mr. Justice Drake and a special jury for two weeks, will probably last for another day or two. Counsel for the defense opened his case yesterday with a long address, and the principal witness, McCallum, is on the stand to-day. The action is brought by the Grays to recover from McCallum shares in the Ophir gold mine, Big Bend, which they claim were mortgaged to defendant for the sum of $6000, procured as a loan to assist them in carrying on mining operations. The defendant's contention is that the shares of the plaintiffs were conveyed to him absolutely, and the suit, therefore, is to determine the ownership of the interest formerly held by the Gray Brothers.

The Case will be Re-Opened.

In the Provincial Court this morning Jno. Durance, jr., was charged on remand with having a grouse in his possession on Saturday last. The case was remanded to give either one party or the other time to produce more evidence, as two witnesses on each side told decidedly different stories. When the case came up this morning, Mr. Yates, who appeared for the defence, asked that R. Graham, the boy that gave evidence yesterday, be recalled, as he said he could show that the boy had been influenced by his father. Mr. E. Johnson, S.M., who occupied the bench, thought the case would have to be re-opened, as there were matters connected with it that would have to be investigated. It was painful but evident that one side or the other had committed deliberate perjury. He, therefore, adjourned the case until a week from Friday, when it will be re-opened.

Firemen's Tournament.

That the Northwestern Firemen are not apathetic in the matter of the approaching tournament, is shown by the following letter which the President has addressed to all the chief engineers:—

I wish to call your attention to the fact that the 10th annual convention and tournament of the Northwestern Firemen's Association meets at the city of Victoria, B. C., on the 28th, 29th and 30th of September, 1891, and I am desirous that your company elect your delegates to attend the convention, and also that, you, if possible, have your company or your city represented at the tournament with a competing team. The officers of the Association have taken a determined stand this year that our Association laws shall be lived up to and that our tournament and its competitive trials shall be for the volunteer firemen and not for professional foot racers. Our aim and object is to elevate and improve the service, and competitive trials stimulate and improve our service, and for that reason the Association has, through the city of Victoria, B.C., offered this year $3000 in cash prizes and four valuable trophies, and we not only need your assistance in the tournament, but also in convention. If your company is a member of the Association, have your annual fees of $5.00 forwarded to the Secretary at once, and if your company has not been represented before forward the Secretary $10.00 for your initiation fees and $5.00 for your first annual fees. All chief engineers are delegates at large and each company is entitled to two representatives in the convention.

THE SONGHEES INDIAN RESERVE QUESTION DISCUSSED.

Ald. Munn's Characterization of the Dominion Government's Offer—It is in Accordance With the Usual Treatment Extended to Victoria.

At last evening's usual weekly meeting of the city council there were present Aldermen A. J. Smith, H. A. Munn, W. D. McKillican, J. Robertson, Joseph Hunter, Joshua Holland, C. E. Renouf, F. G. THE MUNICIPAL MAIL.

Mr. Amor DeCosmos wrote as follows:

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 19th, 1891.

To His Worship the Mayor and Municipal Council, Victoria, B. C.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to inform you that I have been instructed by the provisional directors of "The Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway Co., to acknowledge the receipt on the 18th inst., of a letter addressed to me dated the 17th August, 1891, from the clerk of the Municipal Council, W. J. Dowler, Esq., in which he states that at a special meeting of the City Council held on Friday evening the 14th inst., the following resolution was passed, viz:

"That a by-law setting forth the propositions of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway scheme as contained in the memorial of the promoters of the said railway to the City Council of the 4th May last, and in the communication of the Hon. Amor DeCosmos of the 22nd of July last, be placed before the ratepayers for their approval on condition that all expenses connected with the publication of such by-law and with the poll of the vote of the municipality thereon, be borne by the promoters of the said Railway."

I am further instructed to say that no mention is made in the resolution above, of the intention of the Council to submit another by-law at the same time, to the ratepayers to grant a million dollars to the Victoria & North American Co. for building a railway from Port Crescent, in the State of Washington, to Gray's Harbor, in the same state. But the Colonist in a leading article says that they do intend to submit two by-laws, and the Times' report of the Council meeting says also that they do, and so the provisional directors acting on the assumption that such is the intention of the Council, and as I believe, also, it is, though not officially advised, I am instructed to respectfully request His Worship the Mayor and Municipal Council to postpone the submitting of any by-law to the ratepayers embodying the propositions of the promoters of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway Co. as set forth in the communication of May 4th last, or in my letter of July 22nd last.

The promoters in their communication of May 4th mildly stated that they were "firmly of the opinion that no railway project that has been named up to the present possessed as many advantages" as were possessed by the V., S. & N. W. Ry. and Ferry system. That expression of opinion included the Port Crescent and Gray's Harbor scheme, and that opinion is now held by the provisional directors whom I represent, and so they consider themselves justified in declining a by-law contest under such circumstances and with such an opponent. For the advantage to Victoria by building with her own money a hostile town on foreign soil within sight of the smoke from the chimneys of her taxpayers is nil; and also as it seems incredible to practical men how any body of intelligent gentlemen could entertain such a project for a moment. A million dollars paid to build up a hostile town and 125 miles of railway for foreigners in a foreign country, whilst the taxpayer will be asked to look and see the million dollars spent in a foreign land, and be left to toil and sweat, without any personal benefit, for fifty years to pay the principal and interest of the money borrowed to carry out the Port Crescent scheme, is simply preposterous.

The Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway and Ferry scheme has been sanctioned by the Dominion Parliament. It is a local, provincial and national undertaking. The money raised to build it, will be spent in our own country, and not in a foreign state. If any one be taxed to aid in building it, he will have an opportunity to benefit by the expenditure. It is a project for the benefit of our own country, and not designed to build up hostile towns and railways under a different flag, at the expense of Victoria, but is intended to provide the best of all implements—a railway and ferry—to unite Victoria with the sister cities—New Westminster and Vancouver—and to connect with our own national and transcontinental highway, the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is designed to connect the chief cities and the two best agricultural districts in the province, Saanich and the valley of the Fraser. It is this truly home feeling that compels our provisional directors to decline the offer of the City Council to submit our application for additional fiscal aid for the approval of the ratepayers in conjunction with a by-law to grant away a million of dollars to strangers.

In the seventh paragraph of my letter of July 22nd last I asked your worshipful body "to grant to the provisional directors an early interview with the object of finding a mutually satisfactory solution of the questions involved in the application of May 4th last." No reply has been made to this request. The grave subjects thus referred to not having been taken up by the Council is another reason for asking that body to postpone submitting the by-law to the ratepayers.

With respect to the novel request of the Council that the expenses of submitting the by-law to the ratepayers should be borne by our company, the provisional directors can only say that if such payment be usual and lawful it might be met. But not having the means at hand to determine the question, the answer will have to remain in abeyance for the present.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
A. DeCosmos,
President V., S. & N. W. R.

The communication was referred to the finance committee.

J. H. Moffatt wrote:—

British Columbia Indian Office,
Victoria, Aug. 14th, 1891.

Gentlemen:—With reference to your application to purchase the Songhees Indian Reserve in this city, I am directed by the Honorable the Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs to communicate with you and request you to inform me whether you would be willing, in the event of the Department being disposed to sell, to purchase the reserve in question for the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000). I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
H. Moffatt.
[For the visiting Indian Superintendent.]
His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen of Victoria.

With reference to this Ald. Hunter wished to say a few words. It was a question that had been very much discussed, and a great deal of doubt surrounded it. He did not intend to allow his position outside the council to influence his duty to the ratepayers. But, according to the letter just read, the Department of the Interior deems itself possessed of the power to sell that Indian reserve. If the Department has the power to sell it now it had the same power long ago, for, in the hearing of Ald. Hunter, it was sold in 1886 by the then head of the Indian Department to the E. & N. Railroad. Arrangements in this direction were made by Sir John A. Macdonald, but were dropped simply because of certain doubts which arose as to the power of the Dominion Government to sell that reserve. Since then Ald. Hunter has received information based on the authority of the best constitutional lawyers in the country, that when the reserve ceases to be utilized by the Indians it becomes the property of the Province, and that the Dominion Government has nothing to do with it. He wished to say that if the council should be lucky enough to acquire the reserve at the price stipulated, they would see that the access of the E. & N. Railway should be maintained. It is well known that the bargain he had heard was clear and explicit; and it was on the strength of that agreement that the company consented to extend the line from Esquimalt, the statutory terminus, to Victoria; Sir John on the other hand agreeing to hand over the Indian Reserve. But Mr. Hunter would repeat that if any desposition is made of the reserve in the near future he would only ask that the interests of the company would be recognized, for ever since they had finished that railway they had not been able to secure sufficient ground for buildings, and had been put to a great deal of unnecessary expense in operating the line.

Ald. Holland referred to the resolution which the Council had submitted to the Government in this respect.

Ald. Richards observed that this particular reserve stands in a different position to the Government and Province than other reserves. He understood that this reserve was handed over by Sir James Douglas as the personal property of the Songhees Indians. The other Indian reserves revert to the Province as the tribe becomes extinct, and the Government has the right to decrease the land as the numbers of the Indians decrease. Ald. Richards considered it in the interests of the city to acquire this land if it were possible to do so. If the statement of Ald. Hunter is correct the company's claim for any damages is against the Dominion Government. Ald. Richards would support any proposition to acquire the reserve for the city.

His Worship—Is Ald. Richards sure whether the property was deeded personally or collectively.

Ald. Richards could not say definitely.

The Mayor understood that this land was laid aside by Sir James Douglas for the Songhees tribe, so long as any of them lived. It becomes a matter of consideration to make some bargain with the Indians themselves. The contention of the Indians is, it seems, that so long as there is any individual with a particle of Songhees blood in his veins, he owns that reserve. Of course there is a great deal of dispute on this point. The point to be considered by the city is what made that land so valuable? It is due simply to the energy and enterprise of the people of the city of Victoria, and the Dominion or Provincial governments have no right to step in and claim an advantage from this enhancement. His Worship thought the city should be given the benefit of this improved value.

Ald. Munn thought the city could n't entertain any such proposition as paying $300,000 for that reserve, because the value is due entirely, as His Worship pointed out, to the efforts of the people who have built up the city of Victoria. The surface value of the land, if Victoria were not near it, is almost without value. He thought it was just another instance of the system of extortion adopted by the Dominion Government in wringing money from this city. He thought that in their manner of dealing with the customs and inland revenue of this city the Dominion Government had derived sufficient money to be satisfied. So far as the actual Songhees themselves are concerned, Ald. Munn was of opinion that it would be far better for them, if they were removed to some place where they could produce something.

The letter was referred to the finance committee.

The Mayor of Tacoma wrote with reference to the Western Washington Exposition, and extended a cordial invitation to the council to attend the exhibition at Tacoma.

Received with thanks.

Bodwell & Irving informed the council that the promoters of the Victoria & North American Railway agreed to bear the expenses of putting the by-law before the ratepayers.

The letter was received and filed.

F. Elworthy notified the council of Friday's meeting of the Board of Trade with reference to hotel accommodation, and asked the council's attendance at the meeting. Received and filed.

M. Hart asked for a sidewalk opposite his property on Herald street. Referred to the street committee.

Henry Jewell asked if he could lay a concrete sidewalk round the Jewell block, and requesting if he would be allowed the usual rate per square yard. Granted.

J. S. Brocklehurst begged to draw the attention of the council to a defective pipe at the corner of Hillside avenue. Referred to the proper committees.

W. K. Bull reported the result of the voting on the various by-laws submitted to the ratepayers on Tuesday. Received and filed.

The secretary of the Sir William Wallace and Caledonian societies applied for electric light on the occasion of their games.

It was moved that the letter be received and referred to the electric light committee.

Ald. McKillican—I don't want to hear anything about electric lights (laughter).

Ald. Robertson, soothingly—You'll get over that in time (renewed laughter).

Mrs. Stephenson, of the Pritchard house, complained of overcharge in water rates. Referred to water committee.

A petition was received from the residents of Hillside, asking that that thoroughfare be graded.—Referred to street committee.

The by-law authorizing the sale of the gravel pits was finally read a second time.

The by-law for the sale of the Deluge engine house property followed a similar course.

The finance committee reported with reference to the Macdonald memorial as follows: Your finance committee having considered the undermentioned subjects beg to report and recommend as follows: Re the communication of F. Elworthy, secretary of the B. C. Board of Trade, enclosing a circular in reference to a monument to Sir John Macdonald, to be erected at Kingston, Ontario:

Your committee beg to report as follows: That this committee appreciates in a high degree the feelings that prompt the citizens of Canada to erect a monument to the late Right Hon. Sir John Macdonald, at Kingston, Ont.; and whilst your committee recognize that a tribute to the memory of one to whom the Dominion of Canada owes, in a great measure, its entirety, prosperity and present success, should be of a national character, and that your committee would feel disposed to recommend to your honorable body the donation of a sum of money commensurate with the city's rank in the Dominion, but for a certain petition now in circulation in this city requesting the Lieut.-Governor to cause an investigation to be held into the management of the municipal finances. Your committee regret to have to report that they cannot recommend the donation, such expenditure not being authorized by law, and could be classed as "extravagance" by those who are now exhibiting an unselfish zeal in the management of municipal finances.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The street committee reported on sundry matters referred from previous meeting of the council. One point in the report was the recommendation to macadamize and sidewalk the Saanich road within the city limits to the amount $2675.

Ald. Smith dwelt upon the importance of attending to this latter part at once. He stated, incidentally, that it was not in James Bay Ward.

Ald. McKillican pointed out the visible absence of funds.

After discussion the report was adopted.

Ald. Robertson moved that the work be done, and Ald. Renouf seconded the motion.

The council rose a few minutes past ten.

A HUMAN TIGER.

The Monster Who Ruled the Delta of the Nile.

His Inhuman Treatment of His Subjects the Greatest Enjoyment of His Life—His Unspeakable Barbarities and Crimes.

Of the cruelty of the Turkish grandee, Defterdar Bey, who married a daughter of Mohammed Ali, numerous anecdotes are related in Egypt, says the New York Ledger. He had, it is said, a tame lion, usually lying at the foot of his divan, which, although mild toward its master, was sufficiently ferocious to terrify his visitors. Sometimes he allowed it to worry his slaves, calling it off, perhaps, just as it was about to kill the wretches.

This savage, when governor of the delta, piqued himself on the simplicity and primitiveness of his manners and his entire freedom from European habits and notions. During the period of his command in the upper country a soldier robbed a poor woman of a little milk. The woman, not foreseeing the result, laid her complaint before the Bey, who demanded her to point out the culprit. This being done, the soldier was ordered to be laid upon the ground and his body ripped open. The milk being found in his stomach, the Bey paid the complainant, and, dismissing her, observed:

"The robber has been punished, but had he been discovered to be innocent the same punishment would have awaited you."

It was the custom of this barbarian, who always moved surrounded by the terror of arms, to ride abroad accompanied by a number of mamelukes (or horse-guards), each of whom carried a thousand sequins in his girdle, that, should he be compelled to fly, which, considering his decided hostility to the pasha, was by no means improbable, he might still be provided with money for his immediate use. During the Syrian campaign six of these young men, dreading the effects of his ferocity, examples of which they daily beheld, made their escape, and took refuge in Ibraham's camp. Being discovered, however, they were immediately apprehended and conveyed back to Cairo. Here they were commanded to appear before their inexorable lord in the great hall of the palace, where they found him encircled by a number of blacks, armed with drawn swords. They were not long in learning their fate. He commanded them to take every man a saber and attack each other in his presence, until five of their number should fall, promising life and a thousand sequins to the victor. The mamelukes obeyed; ranged themselves three and three, and, having been trained to the use of arms, and uniting skill with courage, fought desperately, shedding their blood like water, while the Defterdar sat calmly on his divan enjoying the spectacle. At length, after a long and sanguinary struggle, only one remained the victor over unhappy companions. Exhausted and bleeding in every limb, he raised his eyes toward his master to receive the promised pardon, but at this moment the Bey gave the nod to one of the black slaves who stood behind the victim and the head of the mameluke immediately rolled along the floor.

On another occasion two of his military slaves quarreling drew their swords in his presence; at which, his anger being kindled, he commanded their heads to be struck off. The mamelukes, however, mindful of the fate of their companions, resolved to sell their lives dearly, drew their pistols, and, aiming at the head of the tyrant, were about to rid the world of such a monster, when the interposition of other of his slaves enabled him to escape into the harem. Reckless and desperate, knowing escape impossible, the mamelukes, now joined by several others, who all had wrongs and insults to revenge, pursued and besieged him in his private apartments, where, but for the speedy arrival of a party of soldiers from the citadel, he would have paid the forfeit of his innumerable barbarities and crimes. With this assistance he succeeded in repelling the assailants, who, in their turn, were shut up and besieged in one of the turrets of the palace forming the powder magazine. Here they held out during several days, fighting desperately, but at length, finding their numbers decreased, and being entirely destitute of provisions, they set fire to the powder and blew themselves up with the tower in which they had taken refuge.

The Difference in Woods.

It may not be generally known, says the American Exporter, that very large quantities of axe, spade and shovel handles are shipped to England and South America, and the business to Brazil is rapidly increasing. Those countries do not have the wood of which handles are made. The wood in the United States has a long, whalebone fiber; in tropical countries the woods have a short grain, hard, and therefore capable of a high polish, but brittle, and will not spring. An exception is found in lance wood, and that has its special uses in the United States.

Insects and Cold.

Entomologists have determined that the severity of winters is not destructive to insect life. Larvæ may be frozen stiff and yet they will revive with the return of warmth. Bumblebees and butterflies are often met with in the Arctic regions. Disease microbes are even more tenacious of life. Wachtmuth and Verne found that they could be subjected to cold forty degrees below zero, be powdered with a mortar, and yet be capable of transmitting diseases.

Short Sight.

It was recently maintained before the Paris academy that shortness of sight was a defect incident to civilization, or to an artificial condition of life. An examination of the eyes of wild animals shows that those captured after the age of six or eight months remain long-sighted, while those captured earlier or born in captivity are near-sighted.

WHEN "BOB" BURDETTE CRIED.

A Faded Lithograph Brings Tender Memories.

In speaking of Robert I. Burdette, the Chicago Mail has the following touching scene from the great humorist's life, which recalls a story told me the other day by a young college friend attending school in an Indiana town. Said he:

"I was chairman of our lecture course committee last year. Burdette was billed to deliver a humorous lecture and the sale of seats was unusually large. The afternoon of the day of the lecture came and we had heard nothing from Burdette. While we were speculating concerning his whereabouts and the time he would arrive, a telegram was handed me. It was from Burdette and simply stated that it would be impossible for him to keep his appointment with us. We were sadly disappointed. It was too late to make a public announcement and we decided that the best thing to do was to say nothing until time for the lecture to begin and then make a statement to the audience. But within a half hour I received a second dispatch from the lecturer. It was as brief as its predecessor and simply said that he expected to arrive at seven o'clock and would fill his appointment.

"The lecture was a success. I had heard Burdette several times, and I never heard him when he did better work upon the platform.

"Afterward I visited him at his room in the hotel.

"'I suppose you were somewhat mystified by my first dispatch,' he remarked, 'weren't you?'

"'Oh, no,' I replied; 'I supposed you had missed connections or were sick.'

"'Well,' he said, 'you were wrong. I had to wait nearly an hour at that out-of-the-way station to make connections to get here. I entered the waiting-room. There was no fire. It was cold and cheerless. I sat down upon a bench and tried to be as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. Suddenly my eye caught a lithograph pasted upon the opposite wall. It was a railway advertisement containing a picture of a woman's head. It bore a striking resemblance to my dead wife, I thought. The longer I gazed the plainer this likeness became. It seemed to me that my wife was looking at me right through that picture. I tried to shake off the feeling. I walked around the room and paced up and down the platform outside, but all to no purpose. I seemed to be fascinated by that lithograph and was drawn to it irresistibly. A thousand old tender memories came back to me, and I found myself crying like a child.

"'Suddenly I recalled my engagement to come here and lecture. I felt that I could not do it. I believed that it was utterly impossible for me to please an audience while I felt thus, and so I sent you a message saying I would not be here. But I had a good cry—my train came in—I picked up my grip and got aboard. At the next station I sent you a telegram telling you when I would arrive. And you know the rest.'"

AN ANCIENT PROBLEM SOLVED

Baron Von Muller and the Cure of Snake Poisoning.

The Governor-General of India recently received a communication from Baron von Muller, an eminent scientific authority of Melbourne, announcing that he has discovered the real cause and effective cure of snake-poisoning.

Hitherto, says the London Standard, the mode in which the venom of serpents produced fatal effects has been a mystery. The elaborate series of experiments carried out by the Victorian savant have, he states, not only rendered it clear how the poison operated in producing death, but have pointed out a remedy which, when applied in time, will save the life of the patient.

According to Herr von Muller the venom of serpents does not destroy the tissue of the body, but has merely a dynamic effect, suspending the action of the motor and vasomotor nerve centers. This discovery at once indicated that the proper kind of antidote would be something that would "stimulate and increase the functional activity of these nerve centers."

The remedy is supplied by strychnine, which is directly antagonistic in its action to snake poison. Herr von Muller has applied strychnine upon a large number of persons bitten by tiger-snakes and other venomous serpents, and with invariable success.

The way in which he employs it is to insert ten or twenty minims of the drug under the skin of the patient, and repeat the operation every fifteen minutes until slight muscular spasms are produced, these being an unfailing sign that the patient is out of danger. Large doses of strychnine may be injected into the blood of a person who has been bitten without producing any injury until it has completely neutralized the effect of the snake poison.

The importance of this discovery, if confirmed, can hardly be overrated. In India, where twenty thousand persons are killed by poisonous serpents every year, Baron von Muller's communication has naturally been received with the deepest interest.

Patti's Big Music-Box.

One of the curiosities of that sumptuous palace in the Welsh mountains where Mme. Adelina Patti retires from time to time to rest after her triumphs, is a gigantic orchestrion, says a London paper. This wonderful piece of mechanism comprises in itself all the instruments of a grand orchestra, and with its aid the queen of song can rehearse any one of her roles. The orchestrion is the invention of a German. Just before Christmas something went wrong with the huge musical box, but the maker, happening to be in England, soon set it right again. It was the first ever constructed in this country.

Stalactite Caverns in Africa.

Near Tanga, in German East Africa, an important series of stalactite caverns has been lately discovered. They are in a system of Jurassic limestone and it is said the caverns surpass any similar ones in Europe, both in extent and size. Millions of bats seem to be the only present occupants of the interior.

MALTESE NOT ITALIANS.

Facts About the Population of One of England's Strongholds.

It is a common though utterly erroneous idea in England that the Maltese are Italians by race, and that their language is a dialect of Italians, writes Sir George F. Bowen to the London Times. Sir Adriano Dingli, the present vice chief justice of Malta, a Maltese of the Maltese, has stated officially as follows: "It must not be overlooked that both English and Italian are practically, for a vast majority of our population, as much foreign tongues as Arabic or Greek in England or Italy.' There is good authority for the belief that, at the present day, about twenty per cent. of the entire people can speak Italian, and about thirty per cent. can speak English, while nearly sixty per cent. can speak only Maltese.

The fact is—and it is a very interesting fact—that the Maltese are mainly the last surviving remnant of the Carthaginian branch of the old Phœnician people. Malta was the half-way station between Carthage and Sicily, long held by the Carthaginians and of which Hamilcar, the father of Hannibal, was at one time governor. There is indeed a tradition that Hannibal himself was born in Malta. This famous and historic island was the chief stronghold in the Mediterranean of the Carthaginians of old, as it is now of the English. Here, and in the neighboring island of Gozo, there still remain extensive ruins of Carthaginian (or Phœnician) temples, and an abundance of Carthaginian graves. Moreover, the base of the Maltese language is Carthaginian, i. e., Phœnician. In the corpedy of the Latin poet Plautus, which is named "Pœnulus" ("The Little Carthaginian") a Carthaginian soldier makes a speech in his own language, which is stated by modern Maltese scholars to be as intelligible to them as much of Chaucer is intelligible to the English of the present time.

During the long rule of the Saracens, who held Malta for more than two centuries, the old Carthaginian race and language were much mixed with the Arab blood and language; but both are kindred and Semitic races and tongues—allied also to Hebrew, and have no relation whatsoever with any European language. The subsequent introduction of Italian was due to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, most of whom were Italians, French or Spaniards. Italian was then (as it still remains to a large extent) the lingua franca of the Mediterranean, and the grand masters used it in their official acts (when not published in Latin), and in their courts of law. It is still the language of the courts of law under the English rule, although it is the language neither of the English nor of the Maltese.

CONCEIT IN YOUNGSTERS.

The Sooner It Is Knocked Out of Them the Better.

It is a good thing for a young man to be "knocked about in the world," though his soft-hearted parents may not think so. All youths, or, if not all, certainly nineteen-twentieths of the sum total, enter life with a surplussage of self-conceit. The sooner they are relieved of it the better. If, in measuring themselves with wiser and older men than themselves, they discover that it is unwarranted and get rid of it gracefully, of their own accord, well and good; if not, it is desirable, for their own sakes, that it be knocked out of them. A boy who is sent to a large school soon finds his level.

The world is a great public school, and it soon teaches a new pupil his proper place, says the New York Ledger. If he has the attributes that belong to a leader, he will be installed in the position of a leader; if not, whatever his own opinion of his abilities may be, he will be compelled to fall in with the rank and file. If not destined to greatness, the next best thing to which he can aspire is respectability; but no man can either be truly great or truly respectable who is vain, pompous and overbearing.

By the time the novice has found his legitimate social status, be the same high or low, the probability is that the disagreeable traits of his character will be softened down or worn away. Most likely the process of abrasion will be rough, perhaps very rough, but when it is all over, and he begins to see himself as others see him, and not as reflected in the mirror of self-conceit, he will be thankful that he has run the gauntlet and arrived, though by a rough road, at self-knowledge. Upon the whole, whatever loving mothers may think to the contrary, it is a good thing for youths to be knocked about in the world; it makes men of them.

A PRETTY COOL THIEF.

He Couldn't See How He Happened to Miss All Those Fares.

A stockholder in one of the Pittsburgh street-car lines was riding the other day in one of the company's vehicles, and more out of curiosity than from any selfish motive he watched the conductor ringing up the fares, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The car was very crowded, and somehow or other there were seventy-two persons inside and on the platforms—this the stockholder discovered himself by counting. The number of fares on the indicator when the conductor had collected them all, however, was only forty. This rather dazed the stockholder, and he went out upon the platform and said to the conductor:

"Hadn't you better leave something for the stockholders?"

"What do you mean?" queried the conductor, indignantly.

"Just what I say. You've not registered much more than half of the fares you've taken."

The conductor was very red about the cheeks and neck by this time, and he muttered something about a mistake having occurred. All the same he rang up twenty-two more fares—ten short of the right number—and then remarked to the gentleman who had called him down: "I don't know how I missed those fares, I'm sure."

"Neither do I," responded the stockholder, "but I do know how this company misses a good deal of money."

7. To advance money at interest to any person or corporation on the security of freehold and leasehold land, stock, stations, wool, cattle, produce, crops, shares, securities, merchandise, and other property in the Dominion of Canada, the United States of America, or elsewhere, where the company may for the time then being be carrying on business, and to carry on the business of general commercial, mercantile, shipping, or forwarding agents, or agents for any railway, steamship, or other company.

EIGHTEEN YEARS IN BED.

A Man Who Has Shrunken to the Size of a Child.

Seven miles west of Washington, Tazewell County, back one mile from the main road, in a lonely, isolated spot in the deep timber, surrounded by hills and deep ravines, lives a family named Kleen. The Bloomington Pantagraph says: The house is an old time log one, with door opening outside and but four and one-half feet in height. The interior consists of two rooms. The ceiling would not permit a man six feet high to stand straight. It is supported by logs extending across the room, with boards above but none below. The sides are papered upon the logs, and the general appearance of floors, furniture, etc., indicates careful housekeeping, but the interesting feature of this story is the circumstances in connection with Mr. Kleen and his family. For nearly eighteen years past Mr. Kleen has been confined to his bed and not during all this time has he been able to move any part of his body, not even as much as a finger.

The trouble originated with a severe cold. This produced a rheumatic affection which terminated in spinal disease. This was at the age of thirty-eight. Now Mr. Kleen is past fifty-six years of age. Twelve years ago he lost the sight of both his eyes and since then has not seen daylight. His body and limbs have shrunken until, excepting his head, he is no longer than a four-year-old child. He occupies a short bed prepared on purpose, which is not to exceed four feet in length. He is a native of Germany, and well educated. He belongs to the Amish church, is in possession of his right and natural mind, and can converse in German, using the language correctly. He understands the condition of his business, stocks and crops apparently as well as if he could see and walk.

His family consists of his wife, one daughter, married, and who has returned with her family from Kansas, two daughters now working in Washington, one son, a strong, healthy young man, who manages the farm and stock. The family were formerly very poor and received considerable assistance from friends and neighbors, but the daughters have saved their earnings, the young man has raised good crops, until now they have purchased a good farm for four thousand dollars, paying two thousand dollars cash, and expect soon to remove their father to more favorable quarters.

Mr. Kleen seems contented and perfectly resigned to his fate. His family are very attentive and endeavor to make life as pleasant as circumstances will permit.

KEYS DISPENSED WITH.

New Style of Post-Office Boxes with a Simple but Safe Combination.

The combination keyless lock for post-office letter boxes is constructed on the simplest plan that has ever been devised for a lock. It has no tumblers, and therefore no intricate movement liable to get out of order. It has two dials, and all that is necessary to remember in order to open the lock is two letters of the alphabet, so that a child capable of being trusted to go for the mail can open the box as readily as a grown person. For instance, says the Chicago Post, if the combination was set on the letters A T, all that is required is to turn one of the dials to A and the other to T and the box can be opened. Over three thousand combinations are possible, so that every box may be set on a different combination. In case a person should happen to forget the combination, which is not very probable since he only has to remember two simple letters, the box can be opened by the postmaster touching a spring on the inside, and as soon as the door is opened the renter immediately sees the two letters forming his combination. Any number of persons that may be desired can have access to the box, and a new renter can always feel secure, for the reason that by changing his combination, which is very easily effected in a few seconds by any one, there is no possible access to his mail. There being no tumblers or any thing to indicate from the outside how the combination is set, the lock is absolutely proof against being opened by any one who does not know the combination. Both dials must be set properly before the box can be opened, and there is no possible way of discovering the combination unless both dials are set correct.

Had His Wits About Him.

It was a minister who told the story, says the New York Tribune. The conversation had drifted around to weddings and incidentally marriage fees were touched upon. "There is always something amusing," he said, "about this wedding fee. I have seen very few bridegrooms who were calm and self-possessed enough to act as if they seemed to know just what they were doing. But when I had a church in a New England village once I had a little experience which proved to me that one man, at least, knew a good bargain when he saw it, even if he was getting married. An odd-looking couple came to me to be made man and wife. There seemed to be no objection to the marriage and I married them. When the ceremony was over the bridegroom drew me aside and whispered in my ear that he hadn't a cent in the world. I smiled and told him that that was all right. I was very busy and did not go to the door with them. Well, when I started to go out to make a call that evening I found that the bridegroom had taken my hat, leaving his own shabby affair in its place, and also a new pair of overshoes which were in the hall. That thrifty couple may be rich now. I am still a poor preacher."

Picked Out Her Own Coffin.

A well-known lady of ninety-four, living in Omaha, Neb., went to an undertaker's shop the other day, says the Omaha Bee, and, after leisurely examining his stock, picked out a coffin, which she had sent to her residence. She said she intended it for use at her own funeral. She is said to be in good health and entirely sane.

A GAMBLER'S SUPERSTITIONS.

He Smokes Good Cigars When Losing and Poor Ones When Winning.

There is a well-known sport, whose face is a standing portrait in the gallery of Chestnut street habitues, who is particularly heralded among his brethren of chance by the brands of cigars he smokes, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. If he is winning heavily on the track all his friends know it by the terrific smell of the vile tobacco in his smokers. If he is a loser they are aware of it by the delicate perfume of the curling smoke of the wreaths of a fragrant Havana. What induces the follower of the goddess of chance to thus contrarily denote his financial condition never could be learned until a week ago, when the quality of his cigar was so execrable as to call forth a protest from his comrades, and then he said:

"It's my only superstition, boys. If I win and should smoke a good cigar luck'd go back on me so hard the next day I'd be in the poor-house in a week. But if I am a loser never very heavy, understand, and light two or three Conchas, d'ye see? I'll call the turn on bad luck. When I'm playing in great form then's when I draw on cigars made from cabbages. It's my experience that bad cigars and good luck are friends and Havanas travel in the wake of the losing sport."

BLUFFED BY A DUMMY.

Clever Scheme of an Old Timer to Ward Off the Law Minions.

The Trinidad (Col.) Chronicle relates an incident of Joe Simpson, an old timer, who recently died in that city. Joe owned a piece of land near town, on which he one day found a corps of surveyors running a line. He promptly drove them off with a 44-caliber revolver. A warrant was sworn out for his arrest, but the deputy sheriff who attempted to serve it was held up by the furious frontiersman, his gun and belt emptied and himself sent back to town quicker than he came.

Anticipating a visit from a posse of men, Simpson took an old suit of clothes, stuffed it with grass, placed the dummy in a chair at the door of his cabin, surmounted the figure with a wide-brimmed sombrero and arranged a broom to give the innocent effigy the appearance of preparing to send a bullet through any one who might approach. Simpson then hid in an adjacent cornfield and awaited developments. The posse finally arrived, and, catching sight of the figure in the doorway, held a hurried consultation and finally beat a retreat. Simpson was a highly amused spectator of the performance, and the next day he came to town and gave himself up.

The Pastepot Pet.

Few people have any notion of the queer things that are used in medical practice at the present day. Not the least extraordinary among the remedies employed by physicians, is powdered cockroaches. From this insect, dried and reduced to a brown dust, great relief is obtained by dropsical patients. The dust thus obtained contains an active principle called "anti-hydropin," which is most effective in the stimulation of the kidneys and serves as a check to the complaint mentioned. Cockroach powder is also used as a vermifuge.

Forewarned is Forearmed.

Many of the worst attacks of cholera morbus, cramps, dysentery, colic, etc., come suddenly in the night and speedy and prompt means must be used against them. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the remedy. Keep it at hand for emergencies. It never fails to cure or relieve.

Opium Smuggling on Coal Vessels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Collector Phelps has discovered that colliers of the Southern Pacific Company, from British Columbian ports, are in the habit of going to Port Costa without entering here. Complaints have been made that opium has been smuggled into the city by this route. Collector Phelps will compel the entry here of these vessels in the future.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY

INCIDENTS OF CREMATION.

An Index Finger Pointing to Heaven from the Flames.

Many bodies are reduced to ashes at Samson's crematory of which the world knows nothing, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. The remains are placed in the retort without flourish of trumpets, as the relatives are seldom desirous of the notoriety which at present attaches to this method of disposing of the dead.

The retort has a glass-covered opening through which the consumption of the body can be watched, and in some cases the sight is terrifying, owing to the action of the heat upon the muscles. An uncle took the body of a dearly beloved niece to the crematory. He stood watching the flames consuming the body, when he was startled by seeing the right arm, with the fingers of the hand open, reach upward. Then all but the index finger of the hand closed, and the corpse lay recumbent in the flames, apparently pointing to the kingdom which is never invaded by death. The uncle received a shock from which he did not recover for days. Had it not been for the fact that the girl had been dead for months, and had been buried for several weeks, the uncle would have believed that his niece had been placed in the retort while in a trance, and that she had returned to life when too late.

In some cases when the body is first placed in the retort it will rise to a sitting posture, and in many instances turns over upon its face.

Kalakaua's Coffin.

King Kalakaua's coffin is made of koa and kou wood, of about six hundred pieces; even the handles are made of wood. No metal of any kind is to be seen, except the inscription-plate, upon which the crown and the Hawaiian coat-of-arms are engraved, with other suitable inscriptions.
